HellermannTyton Data Ltd, the British structured cabling manufacturer and part of the global HellermannTyton Group, today announces a new distribution partnership with Cablelines Pronet, one of the UK's premier data distributors.

"I am very pleased to welcome Cablelines Pronet as a full HellermannTyton Network Sciences Distributor and am excited by the opportunities that the relationship brings," said Ewan Wilson, Managing Director of HellermannTyton Data. "Cablelines is a significant and well respected distributor in the UK structured cabling market with a reputation for outstanding customer service.

They are committed to holding stock of the full HellermannTyton product range which can only benefit our existing customers. We also believe that the partnership will enable us to introduce the brand to potential new customers who may not be aware of the full range of our products and systems."

HellermannTyton's Network Sciences Distributors are an integral part of the Network Sciences 25 year warranty programme, providing stock, product advice and front line after sales support to trained and authorised installers.

Peter Pearson, Managing Director of Cablelines Pronet commented, "At Cablelines Pronet we look to support our customers with the leading brands in the market and are always seeking to bring them new and innovative products. HellermannTyton is a great addition to our portfolio, enabling us to offer our customers more choice with a strong well positioned core product range. We will also have access to the many unique solutions from HellermannTyton such as the RapidNet™ pre-terminated system and their Intelligent Infrastructure Management range, iD."

Cablelines Pronet will begin stocking, promoting and selling the full HellermannTyton data range with immediate effect.
